

Residential Products Price Increase

June 07, 2010~Steep Slope Roofing

To: All residential roofing contractors

Unfortunately, our previously announced Steep Slope price increase, effective June 30, 2010, will now take effect June 07, 2010. We had hoped to withhold this increase, as long as possible, although manufacturers increases from earlier this spring (March 1), along with the recently announced June 1st increases, have forced us to realize this increase earlier than we anticipated. In addition to the Steep Slope increase, there will also be an increase on all metal accessory products on June 07, 2010 as well. As stated by the manufacturers, these increases are the result of raw material pressures stemming from steel and oil increases, which have greatly influenced the pricing of these products.
